VOTE THE REPUBLICAN TICKET.

An important duty rests upon the members of the republican party today. The opportunity is provided for the election of the entire ticket which is made up of representative citizens having the best interests of the city at heart. They are worthy of united opportunity, standing as they do for good government and not personal interests. It is the duty of every republican to stand loyally by the party nominees, who have received the unanimous endorsement of the party through the caucus and they should make it a point to get to the polls and cast their ballot for the entire ticket.

Now is the time for the party to give expression to its wants in the line of a business administration of the municipality. Criticism is of no avail if the opportunity of voting for a betterment is not taken advantage of. The stay at home helps neither his fellow citizens nor himself, but by his silence gives consent to existing conditions. Being no party to the assistance of the candidates who stand for the best interests of the city, a voter has no moral right to take part as a critic of the city government.

The republicans are called upon for united action at a time when it is possible to gain control of the city government. Each candidate on the ticket named by the republicans and headed by Gilbert L. Hewitt, whose knowledge and experience in city affairs are too well and favorably known for added comment, has made a success in his business, stands for the best there is in city government and can be relied upon to give conscientious and faithful service in office. They deserve the vote of the electorate in general and the republican party in particular at the polls today.

WILL SIT IN JUDGMENT.

The republican party is to be up for judgment at the national convention at Chicago and it should be guided by sense rather than by impulse. To be swayed by the latter means its downfall, for it carries with it everything that is non-republican and the endorsement of radical principles which Bryan has so long advocated and on which he was always defeated.

In its view of the situation, the Boston Transcript says up the situation well when it says:

"The republican party at Chicago will have two courses open to it. It can endorse Roosevelt, run after strange gods, and fight against its own record, its own long-proclaimed convictions and its own long-established principles; or it can stand by President Taft as one whose administration has been conducted along the policy that the party articulated four years ago. Which will be the more promising course for it to follow? Roosevelt will not simply be the leader of the republican party if he becomes its nominee; he will be its master and its boss. The republican party will be chained to his chariot wheels, and if he is successful in the campaign his triumphant way to the capital will be marked by the presence of the subject republicans. A party which has given up all its independence, and though strong with millions of voters, has bowed to an imperious will, cannot expect long life in a free country. All forms of free thought must infallibly drag together in union in opposition to it."

The republican party is not ready for political suicide. It has stood the test for a half-century, and the sense of the people has kept it in power. It has quickly recovered from defeats. President Taft today stands for what the people want and his administration is proof of it. He has been honest in his endeavors to carry out the platform and has succeeded. Roosevelt, on the other hand, is shouting war for the sake of the war, and the greatest of all bosses is seeking to establish a Roosevelt party out of the ranks of the republicans.

Brazil stores a million pounds of coffee in America and holds it for a while. She gives notice she will renege if an unfriendly act for the government to force this coffee on the market and thus to make coffee cheap to American consumers.

Congressman Gardner of Massachusetts hit Roosevelt in a tender spot. His statements went home and now the Colonel is going to use his personal influence to defeat the congressman. This is bossism with a vengeance.

Mr. Morse is a fine example of a theoretically dead man. He evidently knows a combination that will fool a president and beat justice.

There has been a great deal of personal work done in the municipal campaign and a good vote is expected to be got out today.

CHIEF MURPHY'S RETIREMENT.

The request of Chief John Murphy of the police force that he be placed on the retired list of the department came as a great surprise to the citizens. It had been considered that Chief Murphy would remain at the head of the department for many years to come to continue the success that he has made in the eight years in the office. It is needless to say that he has been the best chief of police that Norwich ever had. He was appointed to the office with an experience of 21 years in the police business. From the first it was evident that an excellent selection had been made in his choice for the office. He gave his whole attention to the department interests and his persistence and unflagging zeal in running down crime made Norwich a place to be shunned by the traveling criminal class.

He possessed more than the average cleverness in the administration of the duties of the office, by no means the pleasantest in the city government. He gave the same attention to the small as to the big complaint and manifested a conscientious regard for the responsibilities placed upon his shoulders. He possessed the clever cunning and reasoning power of the detective and whether it was in the conduct of the office from the inside, or out on the trail of the criminal, the welfare and safety of the public was his object. How well he accomplished it is familiar not only here but throughout the state and New England, for he has been the means of these seeking seclusion here being nabbed.

In his retirement, Norwich has cause for regret. His efficiency was unquestioned and now it is to be hoped he will enjoy for many years to come the rest he is seeking. He gave his best to the city, and but for the fact that retirement was asked for by him because of health, he would have held the office many years more.

DON'T LIKE THE WORK.

The problem of getting and keeping servant girls is one which bothers every city. Housewives know how different the condition is now from what it was ten, fifteen or twenty years ago. It has been found by investigation that while there is a greater demand for hired girls there has been a corresponding loss of interest in that line of work. At the same time there has been a decrease in the number of young women coming here from across the water to do housework. Many who under former conditions would be employed at home work are now working in shops or stores because they prefer that kind of work, even at a lower wage, to working as servants. In the stores or shops they have certain definite hours and time to themselves, while the servant's lot does not look so rosy. Even better wages as a servant does not recompense for the independence that comes from other forms of work.

The hired girl problem means a serious condition in many homes, from the fact that many young people of today are not taught the rudiments of keeping house and they not only want but need the hired girl from the time they set out to keep house.

Employment bureaus find that competent hired girls are in constant demand. The number is not sufficient to supply the demand, and the cause for it is the general dislike for the occupation. Many housewives are unwilling or cannot teach a green girl and the consequence is that the number increases less rapidly than the demand. The making of the work more attractive seems to be required to win back the hired girl.

THE RESULT OF TIPS.

The situation among the striking waiters in New York city is getting worse instead of better. The great issue between the strikers and the employers at the present time seems to be the recognition of the union. In many instances the waiters have gone out after the proprietors of the hotel has agreed to the demands of the employees as to more money, time off, better food and working conditions. To help out the general situation, however, and be organized when other demands are to be made, the men are determined that the union be recognized. The hotel men are equally determined and not a few of the hotel dining rooms and restaurants are closed.

By the action of many of the hotel men offering to grant the demands it would indicate that they were within the bounds of reason. At the same time it is noticed that in the best clubs there is no such trouble and no such demands. This is because of the fact that in those places the tipping system is not permitted. The men know what their pay will be and are satisfied. It may mean the settlement of the present strike by the granting of the demands and the cutting off of the cause of the whole trouble, and the people would likewise be relieved of the bad practice of tipping. It is a bad habit and to a large extent the hotel keepers are responsible for it. They expect the employees to get their pay therefrom, and then take it away from them in fines and employment of their own assistants.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Chief Murphy retires with a good record for rounding up rogues.

Roosevelt demands the unprecedented so as to make the fight certain.

Happy thought for today: The man who honorably acts his part has nothing to regret.

Roosevelt is planning to get control of the convention the same way he took the Panama canal.

The pure drink and food law is getting hard knocks in the courts, where it ought to be sustained.

As the runner of a campaign, the Colonel has shown that he didn't have a weak spot in any direction.

In the past ten years as the result of school banks, the pupils of Kansas City, Mo., have saved $150,000.

Woman in Life and in the Kitchen

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE.

Brown bread, cut in thin slices and spread with strawberry jam or peach marmalade and covered with a layer of cream cheese, makes a novel and delicious luncheon sandwich.

If a porcelain baking dish becomes discolored on the inside, fill it with buttermilk and let it stand two or three days. The acid in the milk will remove all semblance of stain.

Cut flowers, particularly hard stemmed ones, such as roses or carnations, may be kept fresh for many days by burying the stems in a vase filled with a mixture of powdered charcoal and sand. Keep the soil moist all the time.

This plan has been a complete success for keeping the juice of berry pies from soaking under the crust: Mix a tablespoonful of flour with the sugar to be used, and the crust will keep crisp and will not become soft or soaked with juice.

The most stubborn glass stopper can be removed from a bottle by inserting the stopper in the crack of a door at the hinged side. Close the door as tightly as you can on the stopper without breaking it, and then gently twist the bottle back and forth until it is loosened. Patience may be necessary, but the plan is bound to succeed.

Did you ever use a bureau drawer for a scrub? One mother, finding herself in a hotel where no crib could be had, lit upon this brilliant idea. She placed the drawer between two chairs, using one of the bed pillows as a mattress, and her baby slept as sweetly as at home. When you are in a similar position try it.

Fresh peas are in the markets. Instead of shelling them wash them in the pods, taking care to remove all the spoiled ones and throw them, pods and all, into a kettle of boiling water. When they are done the pods will raise to the surface of the water, while the peas remain in the bottom of the kettle. Peas so cooked have a much finer flavor than if they had been shelled in the old way.

INEXPENSIVE FAVORS.

Attractive looking favors which may temporarily be used for holding bon-bons and afterward for trifles like pins and buttons come in the shape of Japanese boxes of pagoda shape, covered with fancy straw, and in lanterns having five sides, each with a different picture. A quaint picture. Spinning wheels in natural wood, arched well curbs are set upon celluloid boxes having tops padded into pin cushions and in which are placed the charming little fancy baskets in clear white or rose crystal. In deficit are many of attractive favor pieces, notably shoes, spinning tops and squares, in white, in the blue on white or red on white English china may be found quaintly decorated two handled cups, tiny jars and basket shapes. Prettiest of all are the favors in the form of white porcelain tubes holding artificial rose or cherry trees.

DICTATES OF FASHION.

Prince of Wales feathers are quite the rage in millinery.

Pique is one of the most popular materials for summer wear.

Silver fringes are a favorite finish to gray chiffon over dresses.

Stockings are frequently inset with real lace, and this again, even embroidered with beads or jewels.

Long wraps of taffeta are displayed to wear with one-piece frocks of chiffon, taffeta or mousseline de soie.

The craze for colored stockings shows no abatement. They match the gown and are worn with black slippers.

Dark rich wine colors, dun, brown, mauve, taupe, dull blues—all are appropriate colors for the older matrons' gowns.

Paris advocates metal brocade slippers for evening wear. Black and gold and black and silver are the favorite combinations.

White serge is never out of fashion, and while not so cool as linen, it looks better and does not need the constant laundering which the linen does. The new white serge looks to the untrained eye like a new kind of white cloth—thin, with a smooth surface and supple weave, while the weight is not felt.

NEW STOCKING DEVICE.

Women who are afflicted with perpetual Jacob's ladders in the tops of their stockings should adopt an amateur device that is successful in preventing them. Instead of using the old elastic, substitute quarter inch satin ribbon. Fold a piece in the middle, sew it to the elastic line, leaving the two short ends free.

On each stocking put two or three loops of silk braid to match in color, and through these tie the ribbons. There will be no more work, as someone terms those tiny holes in the stockings by hooks, and the effect of the pink or blue satin ribbon bows is attractive.

TATTING ON GOWNS.

A smart summer silk gown has V-shaped trimming at either hip, extending well down from the waist line. These pieces are nothing more or less than countless units of coarse tating should serve as a refrigerator unless there's a drop.

The Welsh labor unions have declared for woman suffrage. What they desire for themselves they want for all.

Uncle Joe Cannon must feel pleased that he is not now regarded as the party odium. The lambasters must make him smile.

It must make Senator Root smile to think the Colonel has renewed his objections. They did not seem to be at all in the way of his presiding.

The next police commissioners and the council have been left the task of filling vacancies. It ought to take no great statesmanship with the material at hand.

Uncle Sam has 149 admirals on his retired service and 28 in active employment; and of 120 commanders on the active list only two have seen more than two years of sea duty.

The French are a thrifty people. When a government loan of $4,000,000 was called for recently, it was over-subscribed $0 times, showing the people had ready for investment $3,280,000,000.

Miss Tarbell does not think the American woman who keeps servants know what democracy means and from the way in which they treat servants are shamefully neglecting a great opportunity of life.

WHITE SHOES.

Among the novelties in footwear are the white buckskin walking shoes which button at the side, quite after the fashion of a gaiter. The shoes are stitched in plaid or other colors, the buttons being sewed with the same colored thread.

SHOPPERS' LIST.

Coffee pots for making drip coffee are to be had in enamel. They hold but two cups.

Some of the enamel kettles have a removable base of copper. This practically makes burning the contents of the kettle impossible.

Stout bags well filled with marbles of assorted sizes are sure to delight the small boy. They are to be found in many shops.

Bird cages of the dark metal, made after the lines of the Swiss chalet, are quite unique.

Silk and cotton weaves resembling pongees and rajahs are to be had in alluring colors. These are charming for house gowns and as a rule the fabrics launder well.

A small wicker pedestal with a basket for holding fruit, and a fern gives a homey touch to the living room. The wicker is natural, painted or gilded.

Leather frames in green, red, blue or brown have a simple design etched in gilt. They are to be had in several sizes and with different shaped openings.

Crepes night robes with a tiny buttoned scallop at the neck and around the sleeves, done in color, are quite pretty. There are initiated handkerchiefs. The lettering is artistic and well done.

RECIPES.

Pineapple Fritters.

Make a batter with one egg, white and yolk beaten separately, add a half cupful of milk to the beaten yolk, a pinch of salt, enough sifted flour to make a stiff batter, the beaten white can be desired. Even moisten use fine bread-crumbs for facing silk, flannelette answers the same purpose and is far less expensive.

Useful and pretty skirt hangers for the traveler are made of pieces of ribbon four inches long and rather large nickel rings which are closely crocheted over the silk or the color of the ribbon. The ribbon is neatly sewed to one of the rings, the other end being hemmed over a safety pin. Two of these are needed for each skirt, the rings hung over hooks in the closet. These little hangers can also be used on coats.

The polls will be open in all the four city districts from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m. today, for the city election. The hours will be the same in all districts of the town for the election of town school committee.

Useful Wedding Gifts.

Among the novelties in house linens for summer use are small pillow slips with scalloped edges worked in dainty colors. Mercerized thread is used.

Thus one may match the pillow slip with the coloring of the room. Since the bride's room is the scene of the wedding, it is a very welcome gift to a bride, because they would be a little unusual. A set of guest towels is another suggestion. These are dainty little bits of towels, measuring about eighteen by twenty-four inches. One of the newest designs is in finest huckaback with a plain linen border scalloped on the edges and embroidered in English.

These are all white, though sometimes the initial is worked in a delicate color.

Needless to mention, the initials of the bride's maiden name and not those of her prospective husband should be used.

Donors must not forget this, for, apart from bad taste, superstitious people fancy all kinds of bad luck as the result of making the bride's gifts with her to be married name.

Dollies for placing presents are not likely to be duplicated. These can be bought in plate size with finished scalloped edges and then decorated with a small spray of embroidery worked on each side, buttonhole, will allow ribbon to pass through holding the dozen dollies together, the ends tying after the plates are packed in boxes.

Heavy crocheted dollies are also excellent for this purpose, which may be a hint to those handy with a crochet needle.

And while on the subject of the more practical wedding gifts, remember a set of kitchen and glass cloths. It sounds very prosaic, but such towels any bride might be tempted to own. They are quite unlike the usual towel sold by the yard and bought by the average bride, who, perhaps, feels she cannot afford to spend too much for kitchen house linen.

The kitchen towels referred to are an unusual size, being twenty-five by thirty-three inches. They are all linen, heavy and absorbent, with a broad stripe woven down the center, bearing the words, "Kitchen towel" in blue or red. The price is $3 a dozen.

The glass cloths are the same price and measure twenty-four by thirty-six inches. They are bordered with red or blue and have the words "Glass cloth" woven down the sides.

Two dozen of these kinds of towels would last a very long time and be a constant reminder of the thoughtfulness of the donor. So much money is wasted every day in perfectly useless presents that something of a little unconventional would probably be a very agreeable innovation.

The polls will be open in all the four city districts from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m. today, for the city election. The hours will be the same in all districts of the town for the election of town school committee.

DON'T HAVE GRAY HAIR.

A Simple Remedy Will Bring Back the Natural Color.

"Pull out one gray hair and a dozen will take its place," is an old saying, which, to a great extent, is true. If no steps are taken to stop the cause, when gray hairs appear it is a sign that Nature needs assistance. It is Nature's call for help. Gray hair dull, lifeless hair, or hair that is falling out, is not necessarily a sign of advancing age, for there are thousands of elderly people with perfect heads of hair without a single strand of gray.

When gray hairs come, or when the hair seems to be lifeless or dead, some good, reliable hair-restoring treatment should be resorted to at once. Specialists say that one of the best preparations to use is the old-fashioned "Sage Tea" which our grandmothers used. The best preparation of this kind is Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, a preparation of domestic sage and sulphur, scientifically compounded with later discovered hair tonic and stimulants, the whole mixture being carefully balanced and tested by experts.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is clean and wholesome, perfectly harmless. It refreshes dry, parched hair, removes dandruff and gradually restores faded or gray hair to its natural color.

Don't delay and waste your money. Start using Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur at once and see what a difference a few days' treatment will make in your hair. This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Lee & Osgood agent.

NEEDLEWORK NOTES.

For darning coarse hose German-town worsted makes a better filler than coarse cotton, and for hose darning it can be used just as it is; for finer work it can be split and the two thread size can be used. It is softer than cotton and does not hurt sensitive feet.

Hemstitch is being a good deal used as trimming for silk blouses and can now be bought all ready for use in practically any color. Notice, too, the little killings of silk on the sleeve and at center front, and the way in which blouses are used as trimming. Killed frills are quite the correct sleeve finish for a silk blouse.

If skirts are made of very thin, soft silk, lace them for eighteen inches from the hem with a thin quality of flannelette. This gives body to the skirt's hem, yet is as soft and supple as can be desired. French modes use fine broadcloth for facing silk, but flannelette answers the same purpose and is far less expensive.

Useful and pretty skirt hangers for the traveler are made of pieces of ribbon four inches long and rather large nickel rings which are closely crocheted over the silk or the color of the ribbon. The ribbon is neatly sewed to one of the rings, the other end being hemmed over a safety pin. Two of these are needed for each skirt, the rings hung over hooks in the closet. These little hangers can also be used on coats.

The polls will be open in all the four city districts from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m. today, for the city election. The hours will be the same in all districts of the town for the election of town school committee.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

Don't sleep facing the light; it will weaken the eyes.

Hot lemonade is one of the best remedies in the world for a cold. It acts promptly and effectively and has no unpleasant after effects.

A bad headache can often be cured by drinking a half glass of cold water in which has been dissolved the juice of a lemon and a half teaspoonful of soda.

To avoid illness keep your feet dry. There is a saying that "the best place for a chest protector is on the feet." Never keep on damp shoes. Wear sensible clothing. There are still many cool evenings when the transparent neck of a bodice seems out of season.

Perfumed soap, except of the most delicate odor, is never used by the woman of refined tastes. The odor of a heavily perfumed soap is acid and penetrating, completely effacing any fragrance from the scent bottle or sachet. Use a pure soap devoid of perfume and apply your favorite toilet water as an astringent after the face or hands have been bathed.

To keep hair in curl and at the same time impart a delightful fragrance to the entire coiffure, dampen it with cologne water before winding it on the iron. Leave the hair on the iron until it is quite dry. Avoid any curling fluid containing gum arabic, as it leaves a white powder when dry, and this dulls and deadens the sheen of the hair.

Among the injuries to health caused by "lacing" are backache, weak spine and indigestion. Constant pressure in the hollow or "small" of the back irritates the delicate nerve centered in the spinal column. These nerve wires are impeded in transferring messages to the brain and the entire nervous system is thrown into disorder. Depression, sick headache and hysteria often originate in the tight waist.

Get a package of absorbent cotton from a druggist. Strip a layer from it, lay it over the bristles of a wire hair brush, pushing it down until the bristles penetrate the cotton and it lies close to the hair of the brush. A few strokes of this over the hair will reveal how large a quantity of dust can be taken up by the cotton, leaving the hair bright, soft and clean. This should be done every night, just before retiring.

IDEAS OF A PLAIN MAN

Far be it from me to intimate that the reformer should not tear his shirt, the propagandist foam and consume his soul.

One cannot help admiring campaigns and campaigns. And nothing is to be said by sentence of death by torture should not be pronounced upon the whittier, the lauffer and the conservative.

And, yet, looking back over the history of the terrestrial globe, the story of its rocks and plants as well as of its men, one is impressed by the fact that progress is a matter of very slow growth; so slow, in fact, that at any given period the most significant changes that were going on were those that were so still and gradual that those present were not conscious of them, and were perhaps occupied with
